BDS Employee of the Month

Chris Galambos

BDS is proud to announce that Purchasing Manager Chris Galambos is our September, 2017 Employee of the Month. With an eye for detail, Chris works hard to ensure that our inventory both supports and upholds our needs for production and innovation.

“My business card says “Purchasing Manager”, but I wear many hats at BDS,” says Chris. “Sometimes you’ll find me at my desk ordering parts or talking to a vendor on the phone. Other times I can be found: doing quality control on incoming parts, helping the stockroom pull parts for production, driving to pick up parts from a vendor, delivering an order to a customer, operating the forklift, or helping our neighbor who serves our local community by providing food to needy people in emergency situations. My favorite part of my job is working with my co-workers and helping people solve problems. I’ve worked at BDS for more than ten years and am happy to call it my work home!”

“Chris Galambos is an integral member of the BDS team,” states System Administrator and Scheduler Michael Palma. “As the purchaser for a dental manufacturer, his job is vitally important as material requirements are continually changing with trends in the industry. In addition to maintaining a flow of inventory which keeps our production team supplied, he is also responsible for material management, and for directing the stockroom personnel on how best to organize all inventory.”

“Chris is a strong component of the team. He adds a lot to the culture, and he understands it, and contributes enormously to it,” states BDS President Rick Whitman. “Chris has a long-standing relationship with us. He understands our system, and is in tune with the industry. Chris can run with whatever needs to get done. He has an important and difficult job, and he makes it look a lot easier than it is. The only negative is that he kicks my ass at golf, and always has.”

“Chris returned to the BDS team a couple of years ago, and is such a pleasure to work with,” says BDS VP of Marketing Jeff Bunker. “He has a positive attitude and works well with everyone in the company. As our Purchasing Manager, he is instrumental in maintaining our supply chain and working with our vendors to assure that we receive products on time, and at a reasonable cost. Chris also manages the stock room to keep the production team supplied with each and every component of our product line.”

“Chris is a hard worker, he takes ownership of everything that he works on because he wants everything done right,” says Danie Leenders in inventory. “He’s the first to arrive and the last to leave. He’s very reliable, and fun and easy to work with.”

“It’s a great experience to work with Chris, he’d do anything he can to help you,” says Greg Hansen in inventory. “He’s a hard worker and he gets it done. He’s the one I’ve enjoyed working with the most. He really puts his nose to the grindstone.”

LED Operatory Light

The L-Series LED

BDS is proud to introduce our new line of LED operatory lights. The L-Series is comprised of 6 models, each of which are designed with a focal pattern of 4"x 6" to fully illuminate the oral cavity, and to eliminate glare. Additionally, our L-Series uses less energy than traditional Halogen lights, while providing comparable illumination. The L-Series also features a feather touch dimming function that allows the light to be set at any intensity, from low to high. The setting is remembered when turning the light off. These features, combined with 3-Axis head rotation, offer the advantage of an LED, without the luxury price.

- Available in post, ceiling, wall & cabinet mt. configurations
- 320° rotation combined with 3 axis movement allows full position range
- Feather touch On/Off switch with dimmer function
- 5000°- 5500° Kelvin
- Uses less power
